

PEAK2020 Cancellation: Registration Fee Policy

Updated March 23, 2020

In light of the cancellation of PEAK2020 due to health concerns over COVID-19, PEAK Grantmaking has updated our original registration fee policy, which stated that no refunds would be issued after February 14, 2020, to offer several options to registrants.

Conference registration fees cover the tremendous financial outlay required to produce this thousand-person event. Since the vast majority of those expenses have either been paid or are contractually obligated, returning all of the registration fees will leave PEAK with a devastating financial burden.

Please forgo a registration refund and make this critical investment in ensuring the sustainability of PEAK Grantmaking.

We have extended the deadline for a decision on your registration fee to Friday, March 27, 2020.* If you have not communicated your decision to PEAK by then, we will assume you do not need a refund and will not process a refund for you.

Choose from the following options:

- 1. Donate your registration fee to PEAK.

- 2. Apply your registration fee(s) towards a new Organization Membership.

- 3. Request a refund.
To submit your request, complete this form by March 27, 2020.*

PEAK Grantmaking assumes no responsibility for any direct costs, charges, or expenses incurred by registrants, including charges made for travel and lodging.

We have put this deadline in place so that we can become aware of the full scope of our financial obligation. We may need to institute a payment plan for payment of all requested refunds. We will let you know as soon as possible a date by which your refund will be received. PEAK Grantmaking plans to begin issuing refunds on April 1, 2020.*
